

One Tough Vault After Another

Doric Vaults are available from licensed dealers required to have an independently certified manufacturing facility which is inspected by the National Concrete Burial Vault Association. The NCBVA tests to industry standards for concrete and mix design, load, cure, plant safety, government compliance and much more. Every Doric vault licensee operates an NCBVA certified plant, meeting or surpassing industry standards.

Doric is the first and only national burial vault company requiring every licensee to operate an NCBVA certified plant...and where service to the funeral professional is our only business.
